

Bob Rankin (

Bob Rankin is accomplished in depicting the landscape in a rather traditional manner and then taking it through a range of abstractions. The resulting paintings are vivid in color and high in energy. Bob Rankin's works reflect the color relationships, surface treatments and energy discovered during explorations around the world. Rankin received his BS in Art Education from East Carolina University in 1971. He also studied extensively in London, Paris, Amsterdam, Rome, Florence, Venice and Athens before teaching Art in the Wake County Public School System. He recently retired from teaching after thirty years and now paints full-time. Among other honors, Rankin is the recipient of the Raleigh Medal of Arts and was featured in International Artist Magazine in 2001. His works have been exhibited throughout North Carolina, as well as in New York, Colorado, Florida and Marrakech, Morocco. He currently lives and works in Raleigh, North Carolina.
